MEN QUIT WORK AND DRAW PAY

Long strings of workmen at the offices of the leading companies operating here and on the Divide emphasized the fact that the employees had quit in such large numbers that some of the properties were unable to operate this morning. When any men reported the number was so small that it did not give the man account any hope of conducting their mines with any semblance of normal activity. The North Star, Rescue and Cash Boy reported having men at work, but it was intimated that these companies would have to close down for want of fueling facilities as the mills have no ore in reserve and cannot keep stamps dropping on limited custom shipments. The suspension is almost unanimous and there is no talk of any negotiations for a reconsideration of the vote, which took off the counts. Watchmen have been placed on all the properties. The men who are leaving are going to Butte, Elko or Arizona where they say the copper camps are running short-handed and calling for more men. A few properties on the Divide are running.
